

Agents Recover $70,000-$90,000 Of Brinks Robbery Money

Three More Suspects In Custody

BOSTON, June 4 (AP)—The FBI and Boston police in a swift raid on the sub basement of a Boston rooming house today seized what they said was between $70,000 and $90,000 of the $1,218,000 stolen in the fabulous Brink's robbery of January, 1950.

The agents reported they had to knock down a false wall to get to the money stored in old newspapers and plastic bags in a closet. Sixteen packages of bills of high denomination were found in wrapped newspapers and eight in the plastic bags.

Two men were arrested and taken to police headquarters for questioning. They were to be arraigned later.

One of the pair—Edward A. (Whimpy) Bennett, 36, of Weymouth, was booked immediately on suspicion of being an accessory after the fact in the Brink's robbery. Police said Bennett is a convicted bookie.

Second Man
The second man — Joseph F. Buccelli, 41, of Brookline — was booked on the same charge several hours later.

The FBI said Bennett was nabbed when he appeared at the Tremont Street rooming house while agents had it staked out. Buccelli was picked up later.

Police said the sub basement where the money was seized housed several commercial firms and there were several false walls in the basement. The rolls of newspaper packages and the plastic bags were stored in an old ice cooler.

Agents indicated that the information which led to the raid came from Jordon Perry Jr., 31, Boston stone mason, who was arrested last night in Baltimore with what the FBI described as $4,633 of Brink's money in his possession.

Ten others are in custody in Boston in connection with the fantastic robbery of the money transportation firm.

The robbery—the nation's largest cash haul—was pulled off by a group of Halloween masked and armed gunmen, who, wearing Nazi peacocks, used false keys to get through several locked doors to the money counting room.

There they surprised and trussed several money counters and guards, stacked the loot in big bags and carted it off in a truck parked outside the North End building—formerly a garage.

Six Years
The first arrests were not made until six years later when FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover announced the robbery had been solved.

Most of those allegedly involved were picked up after Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, one of the alleged participants, "talked" after he claimed he had been swindled of his share by others he said were involved.

Two, who had been missing about a year, were captured only recently. Eleven persons were indicted as a result of information given by O'Keefe, but one died before the arrests were made.

Those in custody awaiting trial include:

O'Keefe; Stanley Gusciora, 36; Thomas Francis Richardson, 48; James Ignatius Faherty, 42; Henry Baker, 49; Adolph Maffie, 44; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52; Vincent James Costa, 41; Michael Vincent Geagan, 47; Anthony Pino, 48. All resided in the Greater Boston area with the exception of Gusciora whose home was in Stoughton.

Joseph Sylvester Banfield, 45, who was indicted with the others, died about a year before the FBI roundup of the alleged participants.

Serial Numbers

Baltimore police said that four bundles of bills found in Perry's downtown hotel room bore the same serial numbers as those on the money taken in the Brink's holdup.

Police reported that some of the money found in Perry's possession smelled mouldy—like that seized today in Boston. Boston police said the money seized here not only appeared slightly mouldy but apparently had been subjected to some process to preserve it.

Perry was picked up after an amusement arcade operator told police a man tried to pass a mouldy, limp and apparently counterfeit $10 at his establishment.

Gossard Dies In State's Electric Chair

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 4 (AP)—Harry Gossard, 40, died in Pennsylvania's electric chair at Rockview Penitentiary tonight for the bizarre Halloween night slaying of Karen Mauk, 6, more than a year and a half ago.

The former seaman and resident of Cambria County was pronounced dead at 9:04 p.m. EST by Dr. J. G. Weixel of Bellefonte, three minutes after he was strapped into the death chair.

Executioner Jerry Kremer, Pittsburgh, sent 2,000 volts of electricity through Gossard's body at 9:01 p.m.

Gossard was the second person to die in the Pennsylvania electric chair this year and the 34th to die since the chair was brought into use by the Commonwealth as its official execution device.

California To Test Adlai, Estes

By The Associated Press

CALIFORNIA Democrats choose today between Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver, and their decision may go a long way in deciding who runs against President Eisenhower in November.

The 68 Democratic National Convention votes at stake in California's presidential preference primary amount to roughly one-tenth of the 686½ total needed to select the party's nominee.

As of last night, political analysts in the state said Stevenson seemed to have an edge, a judgment disputed by the supporters of the senator from Tennessee.

Stand

Outside of California, Kefauver stands to pick up 24 national convention votes today—16 in Montana and — in South Dakota. He has no opposition in the two states except for write-ins in Montana.

In another virtually no-contest situation, Gov. Averell Harriman was expected to pick up today the bulk of the 86 delegate votes from New York State districts. The state's Democrats will later choose delegates with 12 more votes, to round out the convention's largest bloc—68.

Harriman, still calling himself an inactive candidate, is regarded as one of the strongest dark horse possibilities in the Democratic field. If neither Stevenson nor Kefauver, the only fully active campaigners, could get a firm upper hand, Harriman might come out the winner.

In New York's primary today, as in California, Republican slates supporting President Eisenhower are unopposed.

Walter Suggests

Help For Soviet Immigrants

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Help for immigrant Soviet citizens who don't want to be sent back home was suggested today by Rep. Walter (D-Pa.).

In a speech on the House floor, Walter said there are many immigrants who "made misrepresentations" when they came to this country by swearing they were born in countries other than Russia. Walter said they did this because they feared they would be repatriated, and they knew if they were sent back to Communist Russia "they would suffer in many respects."

Walter said there is "broad enough language" in the law for the attorney general to waive "things of that sort."

Britain Asks Help From United States

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Britain tonight was reported planning to consult the United States and other NATO partners in a new effort to end the Cyprus crisis.

Authorized sources said the Eden government hopes a broadened Allied approach to the island's disputed future might help to cool tempers inside and outside Cyprus. But the island was torn again tonight by new riots and killings.

The British move would be accompanied by renewed offers of a liberal constitution for Cyprus providing for wide self-rule and ultimate self-determination.

Meeting

The new British plan was reported as Field Marshal Sir John Harding, governor of Cyprus, met with government leaders here to review the situation in the East Mediterranean fortress-colony.

Harding later met with Prime Minister Eden at No. 10 Downing St. Security men ringed the residence during their 90-minute conference.

The muffled boom of riots in Famagusta tonight provided a grim background to Harding's talks.

The island's two main groups are 400,000 Greek-speaking and 100,000 Turkish-speaking people. Most Greek Cypriots support the campaign of the union-with-Greece partisans to oust British rule. Most Turkish Cypriots would rather have the British stay on if Turkey cannot regain possession.

Tonight's riots were sparked by the fatal shooting of a Turkish auxiliary policeman earlier in the day in the village of Limnia, near Famagusta. It was the signal for new outbursts by vengeance-seeking Turks who attacked and set fire to Greek shops.

Incident

In another incident near the British military base of Dhekelia, an 18-year-old Briton was shot and left for dead in an ambush carried out by quick-shooting gunmen. He crawled to a church and lit candles to summon police—but only after one of his companions had died in the attack.

Informants said Harding's talks will cover future military operations. They also will deal with the prospects of winning over moderate Cypriots with whom negotiations might be started on a constitutional settlement.

The informants said the British have no desire for NATO mediation but only for consultation.

Four Bangor Councilmen Quit Meeting

BANGOR — Four members of Bangor Borough Council walked out of last night's meeting after a heated debate over the proposed metered parking lot now under discussion.

The four councilmen who departed before the close of debate were Daniel Sylvester, John Cascioli, Julio Gentile and William Holland.

The angered councilmen left the meeting after 90 minutes of heated debate among councilmen, businessmen and property owners, whose land is being sought for the proposed lot.

Breaking Point

The breaking point came when Horace Jennings, chairman of the council's parking committee, moved to go ahead with immediate purchase of land and construction of the parking lot.

After departure of the four councilmen, the vote ended in a 4-4 deadlock. A special meeting of council was immediately scheduled for Monday, June 18.

Stroud Union Breaks Ground For New Elementary School Building

STROUD Union school directors broke ground yesterday at the site of the proposed new $244,000 Arlington Heights Elementary School.

A few seconds before the first spadeful of earth was flipped over under a suddenly-warm and benedict June sun, Mrs. Helen Carlton picked a four-leaf clover from the mass of weeds, clover and green grass in the field.

Mrs. Carlton's discovery aroused a certain degree of good-humored talk about "superstition". Board members said this was one time they'd be happy if superstition turned out to be a valid thing. They'd like good luck in getting the school built on schedule.

The "schedule" calls for completion of the new grade school by the first of the year, according to M. R. Kiefer, a member of the Rinker and Kiefer firm of architects which designed the new school and the double wing addition to the present high school in Stroudsburg.

Arlington Heights Elementary will be a six-room school with a kindergarten, all-purpose room and a kitchen. The all-purpose room will triple in brass as a cafeteria dining hall with built in benches, an auditorium for meetings and programs and a play area for indoor recess periods.

The new building will be located on land formerly belonging to the Franklin Strunk estate across Route 611 from Beaver House and the area below Bridge St. intersection. Main contractor for the job is Paul Edinger, Stroudsburg.

Construction of the Arlington Heights school is part of a $1,098,000 building program now being undertaken by the combined school district.

Officiating at groundbreaking yesterday was Loring Cramer, union board president. Others on hand to conduct the brief business were: Mrs. Carlton, Herbert B. Crane, board secretary; Edinger, whose men started to work yesterday morning; Sam Everitt, board member; Earl F. Groner, district superintendent; Arlington W. Williams, board solicitor; Rinker and Kiefer.

There was no pomp, no ceremony. Board members agreed to the short groundbreaking only as an official gesture.

Directors said they were interested only in getting the work started and getting the building finished as soon as possible. The board, in the past, has described the new grade school as one of the most necessary parts of its education plans for the near future.

The district now operates grade schools in Delaware Water Gap, Stroudsburg (Ramsey and Morey schools) and Stroud Township (Clearview and Ananook).

Preparations for the groundbreaking aroused some speculation among board members as to the origin of the name "Arlington Heights." Research in court house files of deeds showed this past week that the tract was originally known as "Arlington Highlands."

Burma Premier To Resign From Office

RANGOON, Burma, Tuesday, June 5 (AP)—Informants said U Nu, the smiling Premier of Burma through all the eight difficult years of independence, would announce his resignation today. He was described as convinced his neutralist policy in world affairs is a failure.

U Nu, who wore a longyi (skirt) on an official visit to Washington and other American cities last year, threatened to resign twice before, in 1948 and 1950, to become a Buddhist monk.

But this time, informants said, the Cabinet has agreed to his resignation and he has named as his successor the Defense Minister Ba Swe, whose nickname is "Big Tiger." Ba Swe, 41, is also vice president of the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, Burma's ruling Socialist political party.

U Nu was said to have told his Cabinet he was quitting because he felt his foreign policy of friendly neutrality toward all nations, the West and the Communist bloc alike, had failed.

He charged that the Soviet and Red Chinese embassies here were embarrassing his government with their activities, the reports said.

Feeling

The Premier told his Cabinet he will devote his energies now to reorganizing the AFPFL, it was reported, and agreed to continue helping the government with his advice and to return to the government if needed.

U Nu, at 49, already has something of the place of an elder statesman by his guidance of the nation since the assassination of Aung San, chairman of the Executive Council, and six Cabinet aides on July 19, 1947.

He was summoned to become head of the Council by the British governor and negotiated Burma's complete independence, effective Jan. 4, 1948. U Nu became Premier.

Leader, Meyner Recommend Repair Of Bridge At Easton

PHILADELPHIA, June 4 (AP)—The governors of Pennsylvania and New Jersey today recommended that the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission repair the Easton-Phillipsburg toll-free bridge washed out in last August's floods.

In a joint statement, Govs. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, also recommended that the commission erect a proposed new bridge above the site of the present one.

The commission, composed of five members from each state, has been deadlocked over the issue. The Pennsylvania members favored repair of the old bridge, while the New Jersey commissioners urged a new span. Meyner, who spoke for both executives, said additional information regarding costs and other factors led to today's agreement.

Change
He said the original estimate of $360,000 to repair the old bridge had been pared to $200,000. The present temporary Bailey bridge is maintained at a high cost and the unusual traffic load requires tightening of the bolts three times daily, Meyner said.

It was pointed out that the Federal Government would contribute half of the estimated six million dollars that a new bridge would cost if it meets with minimum governmental load standards of 20 tons.

Democrats Install Manager

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—The Democratic party today installed James Leonard Reinsch, an Atlanta broadcasting executive, as manager of its Aug. 13 national convention.

Reinsch, 47, replaced William Neale Roach who quit May 18 in a personnel dispute with National Chairman Paul Butler.

Conference

Butler told a news conference he believes planning for the Democratic convention is "far ahead" of that for the Republican National convention which will start in San Francisco Aug. 20, just one week after the Democratic convocation opens.

He said the Democrats plan to wind up their meeting Friday Aug. 17.

Tito Proclaims Willingness

MOSCOW, June 4 (AP)—President Tito proclaimed today Yugoslavia's willingness to make friends with the Soviet Union — as equals.

In a friendly but firm speech to the top men of the Kremlin, the Yugoslav leader said his country is ready to patch up the differences caused by Stalin when he cast Tito out of the family of Communist nations eight years ago.

Reverence

Earlier Tito made a dramatic gesture of his antipathy toward Stalin in a visit to the Stalin-Lenin mausoleum in Red Square just outside the gates of the Kremlin. There Tito paid reverence to Lenin but pointedly ignored Stalin.

President Klement Voroshilov, host at the Kremlin luncheon, lavished praise and flattery on Tito, who is visiting the Soviet Union to cement a new friendship with the men who took over after Stalin's death.

Tito declared the Yugoslav people welcomed the decision of the Soviet government "to end the abnormal and harmful situation in the relations between our two countries which grew out of the recent past."

He recalled the visit of Premier Bulganin and Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev to Belgrade last year. Tito said the Yugoslav-Soviet declaration signed at that time had a historic significance in that it formulated "a new political principle on the basis of which Soviet-Yugoslav relations can flourish anew." Then he added:

Suspect Found With Eight Guns
SCRANTON, Pa., June 4 (AP)—A man, Albert D. Robinson, was arrested yesterday by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and state police, charged with illegal possession of eight machine guns.

Special Agent Norman McCabe, in charge of the Philadelphia office of the FBI, said Robinson will be arraigned before U.S. Commissioner John Mulhall at Wilkes-Barre on a charge of violating the federal firearms act.

Sentenced To 18 Years

Taft-Hartley Act Doesn't Curb Boards

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—The Supreme Court, holding states to be "the natural guardians of the public against violence," ruled 6-3 today the Taft-Hartley Act does not prevent state labor boards from acting against dangerous strike situations.

A majority decision written by Justice Reed said the state boards may ban mass picketing, use of force and threats of violence by strikers even though the acts banned may constitute an unfair labor practice and come under the federal law.

The ruling was on an appeal by the United Automobile Workers from a Wisconsin Supreme Court decision upholding an injunction against picketing and other union activities during a strike at the Kohler Co., Kohler, Wis., in 1954.

Rejection
In another 6-3 decision, the high court rejected an appeal from a ruling by the California Supreme Court that a private employer had "just cause" to fire an employee on the ground of Communist party membership.

The court held no federal constitutional question was involved in the discharge of Mrs. Doris Walker by Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.

Justice Douglas, speaking for himself, Chief Justice Warren and Justice Black, said in a dissenting opinion:

"We sanction a flagrant violation of the First Amendment when we allow California, acting through her highest court, to sustain Mrs. Walker's discharge because of belief."

Under a collective bargaining agreement between Cutter and a local of the United Office and Professional Workers of America, the company reserved the right to fire an employee for "just cause."

Majority

Speaking for the six-member majority, Justice Clark said the California Supreme Court construed the term "just cause" to embrace membership in the Communist party.

"As such," Clark wrote, "the decision (of the California Supreme Court) involves only California construction of a local contract under local law, and therefore no substantial federal question is presented."

In other actions today, the court refused to review the convictions of four Puerto Rican anti-American fanatics who shot up the House of Representatives March 1, 1954. Five lawmakers were wounded. All of them recovered.

The Puerto Ricans came here from New York to demonstrate for Puerto Rican independence by shooting at members of the House from the visitors' gallery.

All are serving long prison sentences.

No Troubles With Moths

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., June 4 (AP)—There should be no trouble with gypsy moths in Port Jervis' Fourth Ward this summer.

The past week a team of airplanes has been spraying a three-county area to combat the destructive moth.

Fourth Ward

Today an engine failed on one of the planes, and the pilot dumped his load of insecticide to lighten the ship.

Most of the stuff landed on the Fourth Ward. It made streets slippery but otherwise did no damage.

No Future Negotiation Sessions Officially Listed Between Union, Ronson Management

NO FUTURE negotiation sessions have yet been scheduled between the Ronson Corp. and the striking International Association of Machinists.

Meanwhile, the strike of some 750 members of Lodge 1724 at the firm's Henry, Harris and Spruce Sts. plants in East Stroudsburg will enter its fifth day today.

The union is maintaining a picket line round-the-clock at the three locations.

Union members held another meeting yesterday morning at the American Legion Home to review union policy in the dispute and to make further plans for the duration of the strike.

Neither company nor union spokesmen had any comment to make last night.

Union members went on strike June 1, after a break down in negotiations. The union is seeking adequate job security within the structure of a seniority clause, in addition to a "substantial" increase in rates.

Acme Hose Reveals New Fireworks Plan

FURTHER arrangements for the mammoth fireworks display to be presented the night of July 4 in Memorial Stadium, East Stroudsburg, were completed yesterday by a special committee of Acme Hose Co., sponsors of the affair.

Firemen announced that children under 12 years of age would be admitted free to the grandstand if accompanied by one or more adults.

Tickets admitting adults to the grandstand are now in the hands of firemen and are available at three locations in Stroudsburg—Dee-Jay Record Shop, Quick's Restaurant and Rea & Derick Drug Store.

Canvass

Firemen will canvass homes in East Stroudsburg on June 18 and 19 to distribute the tickets. Each person is invited to donate a dollar in return for a ticket.

The fire company lost all of its carnival equipment and its Day St. building in the flood last August. It decided on sponsoring the fireworks display this year as a means of raising funds for a new building. The display will be larger than that staged by the firemen in previous years, according to Tom Sexton, chairman of the fireworks committee.

Stock Market Advances Uncertainly

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The stock market advanced today. The rise was hesitant and volume was slow.

Railroads did well on the whole, and also higher were the aircrafts, radio-televisions, most chemicals, airlines, leading building materials, farm implements and utilities.

Steels and motors were mixed as were the rubbers and mail order issues while nonferrous metals had a lower look.

Gains

Prices displayed gains of around 2 points at the outside, with a few stocks doing better, while losses usually amounted to a point at the most.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 90 cents at $179.50. On Friday the average was up 40 cents to close a generally higher week.

The industrial component today was up $1.10, railroads advanced $1.00, and utilities gained 30 cents.

There were only 1,124 individual issues traded, of which 567 were higher and 337 lower with 10 new highs for the year and 29 new lows.

Volume came to 1,500,000 shares, third lowest total of the year, Friday's volume of 1,440,000 was second lowest. Bottom for the year was 1,420,000 shares, Feb. 13.

Brokers are asking whether the market has lost its forward momentum entirely and whether it is forced down again in a test of the lows. In the absence of any kind of buoyancy and vigor, the general belief is that a test is impending.

Southern Production was at the head of the most active list up 1½ at 40½ on 24,000 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed on volume of 690,000 shares as compared with 560,000 shares Friday. Corporate bonds were mixed and U. S. Governments were higher.

Film To Be Shown At Plaza Theater

"AS WIDELY advertised by newspaper, radio, and handbill invitations, a free film will be shown at the Plaza Theater, East Stroudsburg, Thursday night at 7:30, Mr. Fred Severud, the president of the East Stroudsburg congregation of Jehovah's witnesses, announced yesterday.

This film shows the operation of over 500,000 men and women in 150 lands working together as a society of ministers which, according to Mr. Severud might well be called a "New World Society". The title of the film is "The New World Society in Action".

Opportunity

The film provides an opportunity to look behind the scenes of this rapid-growing organization, considered by some the fastest-growing Christian group of today. Everyone is invited to see this most unusual film, mostly in color. All seats are free, no collections will be taken.

Edwin Treible Graduates From Juniata

EDWIN S. Treible, 50 Club Court, Stroudsburg, received a BS Degree in biology as 105 men and women received bachelor degree at Juniata College's Commencement exercises in Oiler Hall yesterday morning. An emphasis on a Christian view of the atomic crisis was placed on the 80th ceremony.

Dr. William G. Pollard, executive director of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, emphasized the theme in his address to the graduating class.

Urging

Dr. Pollard, a physicist in atomic work and a priest of the church — called on the class of 58 men and 47 women to face the crucial development of the atomic age "with true Christian humility and trust."

Following Dr. Pollard's address, Dr. Calvert N. Ellis, president of Juniata College, conferred 33 bachelor of arts degrees and 72 bachelor of science degrees. It was the largest group of June graduates since 1950 when 108 were graduated.

Treible is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Treible Sr.

Western Europe Receives Two Warnings From America Concerning Russia's Smile Offense

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

WESTERN Europe has had two American warnings recently against letting the Russian smile offensive accomplish its chief objective.

That objective is the dissolution of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The warnings resulted from deep American worry lest the already obvious slackening of European defense measures become a runaway movement.

First, Secretary Dulles warned that unless NATO continues as a dynamic, expanding force, it is likely to deteriorate.

That was putting it mildly in the face of French removal of a large proportion of her troops from NATO to North Africa without adequate arrangements for replacement; in the face of British army reductions and of Germany's almost imperceptible progress toward a new army.

The French, of course, had NATO permission for her troop withdrawals. The military situation in Europe does not appear urgent. But against the background of strong European sentiment in favor of relaxing as Russia appears to relax, it is the psychology of the thing which arouses American fear.

Heavily Cut

That's why the House Foreign Affairs Committee appended a recommendation to the heavily cut foreign aid bill suggesting that arms be diverted from Europe to such countries as Turkey, Pakistan, Nationalist China and Thailand until Europe is "clearer" about what it wants to do.

It was a warning, and a reminder that the American mutual aid program was founded and still rests on the theory of aid for those who are willing to stand up and defend themselves.

The "three wise men" appointed by NATO to work out a formula for expanding its activities into economic and political fields are finding it difficult.

Dulles suggested it as a means not only of meeting Russia's new emphasis on politico-economic warfare, but also to give NATO something new into which it could get its teeth, and to prevent it from becoming soft through lack of activity.

So far, no concrete measures for positive action in the cold war have been suggested. Explorations revolve mainly around greater coordination of political and economic action to avoid collisions of policy within the organization. Means of exerting power outward, toward the noncommitted countries, have not been discovered.

Dulles opened the door for other NATO nations to join in a program similar to that being conducted by the United States for the underdeveloped countries, but there has been no rush to get through it.

NATO was organized through fear, and has been kept on course at times only by snarls from the East. It doesn't know how to handle money, and is in danger of getting all stuck up in it.

New Summer Theater At Unity House Is Credit To Entire Pocono Region

Every year, plenty of fresh evidence is at hand to chart the growth of the Pocono Mountains as a mecca for tourists.

Each year find new resorts and new attractions opening to the public. Operators of resorts and hotels already in operation annually spend many thousands of dollars to enlarge and renovate their properties.

Those persons who cater to the vacation trade have been willing to invest millions of dollars over the years in building up a recreation area that rates among the top in America. Definitely, the Pocono resort industry has not stood still.

A welcome addition to the Pocono picture this year—one that adds further to the prestige of this area—is the new $750,000 theater dedicated Saturday night at Unity House, the resort at Forest Park, near Bushkill, which is owned by the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The new theater has a seating capacity of 1,100 on one orchestra floor, a 90-foot stage and a completely modern electronic plant for lighting and set handling. It is constructed of steel and concrete, faced with limestone brick.

The building is an imposing one that contributes handsomely to the comfortable and beautiful resort operated by the union, as well as being a credit to the entire Pocono region.

It was fitting, therefore, that such famous personalities as Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, should be invited to join with David Dubinsky, ILGWU president, in dedicating the summer theater. Marian Anderson added her beautiful voice in song and the New York City Ballet Company gave a brilliant performance to round out the dedicatory program.

The union is to be congratulated for its initiative and farsightedness. Long may the new property serve the theatrical needs of the ILGWU membership who come among us to spend their leisure time.

Responsibility For Averting Traffic Bottleneck On 611 Rests With State

A serious traffic situation that has been crying for official action has come to the personal attention of Gen. George Richards, deputy state secretary of highways.

It is the detour on busy Route 611 between Bartonsville and Tannersville. The two-lane blacktop highway with a reduced speed limit is certain to become a hazardous traffic bottleneck during the heavy-travel months that lie immediately ahead.

Gen. Richards came to Monroe County to inspect highway damages and needs with a group of local citizens and officials at the direction of Gov. George M. Leader. The trip was arranged at the request of Rep. Francis E. Walter.

County Commissioners John R. Lesoine and Willard Quick, expressed their belief that the Route 611 detour is inadequate to carry heavy loads of traffic. They offered their own proposal, which they and other county officials had made some time ago, calling for the construction of a temporary one-way road to carry south-bound vehicles around two washed-out bridges. The present detour would be for the sole use of north-bound traffic.

The state has advertised for bids for rebuilding the bridges, but does not expect to complete the work in time to alleviate any traffic inconveniences this Summer.

The county has offered to simplify the state's task by assuming all right-of-way for the temporary road. The state would be asked to furnish pipe for earth fill construction across the creek bed proper.

Supporting the county plan were Rep. Van D. Yetter, County Solicitor Leo Achterman and Sheriff Jacob Altomese, all of whom accompanied Richards and the commissioners on the tour of flood-damaged areas in the county.

By agreeing to do its part, the county has taken a big stride in accomplishing something important for the traveling public this Summer. But it has gone about as far as it can at present. The responsibility for averting, or at least alleviating the traffic bottleneck now rests with highway officials.

Too much time already has been lost. Any further delay will react to the economic detriment of the entire Pocono region. It is to be hoped that Gen. Richards became sold on the county's proposal and will recommend its early adoption by the proper authorities in Harrisburg.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

British Trade Unionism More Successful Than In U. S. Because Of Lack Of Rackets

Lawlessness Triumphant

British labor has, in terms of organized union membership and political power, been more successful than American trade unionism. For one thing, it has stuck strictly to its own business. British labor leaders do not own private business ventures; none of them have ever been involved in any form of racketeering nor are their personal rewards out of line with their published salaries.

Those who manage the political side of labor, the Labour Party, are all Socialists of various shades, but they are all devoted men. Clement Attlee, Herbert Morrison, Hugh Gaitskell, and even Aneurin Bevan, whatever differences one may have with them, are men who are respected for their integrity even by their opponents. They have all been in government, one has been a prime minister and another is likely to be some day.

On the trade union side of British labor there is no racketeering. It would not be tolerated by the trade union movement or by the Treasury which is very strict on the subject of income tax payments. A private deal, involving money, between an employer and a trade union official, would be bound to end up in a criminal court. The labor movement is public and no labor leader could refuse to show his books on the grounds that it would comfort the enemies of labor.

The British are not angels, but they do have standards which seem not to have been inherited in this Anglo-Saxon country, for since the early days of organized labor, racketeering has always managed to invade certain areas of trade unionism. It may be like during Prohibition or as with the Income Tax—a form of passive resistance. Samuel Gompers told how, in his time, certain labor leaders were actually working in the interest of the street railway companies rather than the workers whom they were reputed to represent. The building trades, as far back as one can go into the record, were given a black eye because business agents of these unions slowed up or speeded up work in accordance with private deals that they made with employers. Comparing this experience with British or German trade unionism of the same period, it may be suggested that the European unions were led by idealists, while the American unions were managed by some idealists like Gompers and some businessmen who worked out gimmicks to make a lucky buck.

One cause for racketeering is the attractiveness of the gains from racketeering. This word needs to be defined because as the small boy says, "What's your racket?" The very question gives an air of uneasiness and legitimacy to what is, beyond question, wrong. If Soviet Russia is really beating us in the arms race, there may be several explanations which require investigation but one can be the terrrible cost of racketeering and the slow-down processes which damage production. While we were slowing down, the Russian employed the Stakhanovist speed-up.

The racket is simply a means for earning money that becomes tax-free by the secrecy of the transaction. As a tax-free dollar is worth more than a taxed dollar, it is clearly advantageous to find means to obtain and to own tax-free dollars. This, in substance, is the racket, whether in labor or in any other walk of life.

The device most successfully employed changes from time to time. At one period the most successful and simplest form was the "kick-back," but that is not used at the present time. The more dramatic and dangerous device is "protection." This was employed by Lepke and Gurrah and was part of the operation of what came to be called "Murder, Inc."

It is also a simple device. A combination of union agents and gangsters and often corrupt employers organize to give an employer protection against gangsters or strike organizers for a fee. Sometimes a membership association is organized with a legal state charter. Those who are invited to join and refuse have their premises smashed or their places picketed. Sometimes someone is killed as a lesson to others. Sometimes, acid is thrown into a man's eyes like into Victor Riesel's. Usually such racketeers have connections with politicians, who need not be corrupt but only afraid. Sometimes they are only afraid of being called anti-labor or anti-liberal.

as a daring young man on a flying trapeze. Ernest Breech, seemed no mere chairman of the board, carrying a brief case full of statistics, but a smiling, fascinating fellow who could have been billed as The Great Ernestino, Astounding Miracle Man of Motor Manufacturing! The Ford boys, Benson and Billy were not simply youthful industrialists, but in our imagination took on the form of prodigious personalities captured from inside the family and introduced to the public for the first time. We closed our eyes, let the spell of the big tent envelope us, and even saw Henry the First repeat one of the greatest performance of all time, shinningy alone in the year 1903 to the top of the pole and diving into a bucket full of dreams, emerging not only unhurt, but as one of the most successful and beloved industrial-

The Once Over

The Big Tent Influence

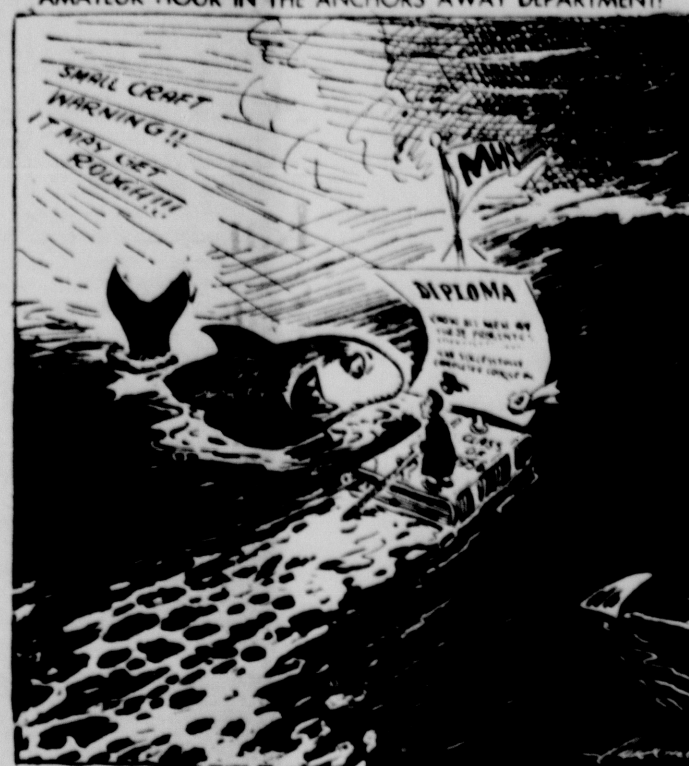

The use of circus tents for big corporation-stockholder meetings got special publicity at the recent Ford session and we think the trend will spread. One "big top" and a dozen smaller ones were put up at Dearborn for the first annual meeting under public shareholding and people are back with reports indicating reactions far more satisfactory from tent than from indoor meetings. There is something about a tent on a spring day that puts stockholders in good humor, abruptly bringing memories of circuses, kid camps and overnight picnics. A stockholder may go to a meeting sore over some policy and determined to blast somebody, but the mood is vulnerable to big-top influence. He gets off the train thinking of dividends, statistics and stock prices, but once inside a circus tent, he can't help thinking of aerialists, lion tainers and beautiful bareback riders.

We went to the Ford meeting, for instance, in an ornery mood but the tent transformed the entire atmosphere. . . . Henry Ford 2nd was no business tycoon in a dark business suit, but seemed to us to be a glamorous performer in pink tights, and for a moment we thought him

Export Of Wrong Films Is Disservice To U. S.

I see in the papers that Netherlands citizens have a brand new after-dinner topic, which they take straight with their demitasse. Juvenile delinquency, American style, is discussed as the "true picture" of America by the Dutch who have been treated to recent American movies depicting dope addiction, labor union violence and other quaint folkways and mores we alone possess.

According to the reporter sent this news from the Hague, one Dutch official asked, "Why do you let such movies out of the country?" He should ask!

The same thought must have occurred to Clare Boothe Luce, U. S. Ambassador to Italy, who refused to attend when the film "Blackboard Jungle" was shown at the Venice Film Festival last year. Her reason was that it gave a false impression of our young people and our schools. She would not lend her presence to anything so unrepresentative of the country she represents.

Quite frankly, I am up to here with art for art's sake and our practice of permitting films which are utter trash, to be considered "representative" of this country.

Is censorship, then, the answer? Hollywood supposedly submits to one form of censorship already in the industry's own Production Code Administration, which in itself is evidence that someone with a little taste and judgment must restrain certain low elements from descending lower. Otherwise, presumably, movie fare would become unbearably vulgar.

It would seem that films for export should certainly be scrutinized even more carefully than those for home consumption. At least here at home we have a basis for comparison. Abroad there is often no such basis. Foreigners who know America know how untruthfully these films depict our life, but are powerless to counteract the ugly impression. And indeed, why should they?

Though such films are in no sense "official," they appear to have official sanction abroad. If we appear to select a certain few movies as our best efforts, telling the true story of America, and ship them out with our blessing—why should it behoove foreign friends to protest that it isn't really like that over here?

It has even been suggested that such distorted film stories are deliberate attempts to sabotage the efforts of the United States Information Agency in its attempt to show us in a favorable light. I prefer to think it is partly an example of our official thoughtlessness, and partly our aversion to anything smacking of censorship.

If these miserable distortions were the truth, if dope peddling and labor disputes were our main interests, if juvenile delinquency were the outstanding characteristic of our young people, then the film industry would be justified in broadcasting the facts. But they are not. And the disservice to this country abroad is so great that 10 State Departments cannot repair the damage.

The State Department has finally recognized that some of our tourists aren't the best "exports" either. Tomorrow I'll tell you how.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Battle Shaping Up Over Increasing Debt Limit

Washington, June 3—Another big fiscal battle involving billions is looming in Congress.

Despite the certainty of a budget surplus of more than a billion at the end of this fiscal year, Congress will again have to decide whether the $275,000,000 national debt limit shall be increased, and if so, how much.

Differing squarely on this key issue are the Capital's two most influential fiscal leaders.

Treasury Secretary George Humphrey thinks the federal debt ceiling should be raised again. Senator Harry Byrd (D., Va.), powerful chairman of the Finance Committee, is against that.

Secretary Humphrey feels an increase is essential under existing uncertain business conditions. He is strongly supported on this by Dr. Arthur Burns, head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. But Humphrey is undecided how much to ask for; whether it should be all or only part of the $6,000,000,000 temporary hike that Congress voted last year.

That was the second time the debt level was pushed up to $281,000,000,000 for a one-year period. Originally, Humphrey proposed raising it permanently to $290,000,000,000. But Senator Byrd flatly rejected that, on the ground it was unnecessary and conducive to excessive spending.

Congress sided with the militant economy advocate and approved his substitute for a $6,000,000,000 increase for one year. In 1955, Byrd agreed to renew that for the fiscal year ending this June 30.

He has serious doubts about doing this again. But he is not slamming the door completely, on the theory that a small raise may be advisable for safety purposes.

To fully explore this, Byrd is scheduling a series of public hearings.

These Finance Committee sessions will enable Secretary Humphrey, Dr. Burns, Federal Reserve officials and other authorities in and out of the government to present their views. Also, Committeemen will have the opportunity to question them. One Committeeman is particularly looking forward to that.

He is Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), the one-time economics professor at the University of Chicago who is the latest addition to this potent Committee. Douglas is also chairman of the Joint Economic Committee. He wants to question Humphrey and Burns.

Douglas proposes to interrogate Humphrey about the Federal Reserve's recent hike in the discount rate, and the effect of that controversial move on the nation's economy. Aim of the Burns grilling is to ascertain what the Administration plans to do in the event of a business setback.

"Gosh all hemlock," exclaimed one soldier, "I'll bet that's the smallest horse in the whole wide!" "You're crazy," contradicted a recruit from Texas. "Back home, we got horses that's as little as two of that one!"

FIRST ROUND—Reason Secretary Humphrey deems another boost in the debt limit essential is an anticipated drop in government revenues later this year. As of June 1, the national debt was upwards of $276,500,000,000—a total well within the $281,000,000,000 ceiling that expires June 30. By July 1, start of the new fiscal year, Humphrey estimates the debt will be well below the permanent $275,000,000,000 level—thanks to a budget surplus of well over a billion.

But Humphrey foresees "lean months" in Treasury income next winter and spring. To meet that contingency he considers it vital to hike the debt limit.

This viewpoint has already been presented to another major Senate committee by Treasury Undersecretary W. Randolph Burgess. At a meeting with the Senate Appropriations Committee, he stressed the precautionary nature of this proposal.

"We will start the new fiscal year in excellent shape," said Burgess. "We will be well below the fixed debt limit. But all indications are that revenues will taper off later on. Obviously, no chances should be taken under these circumstances. For that reason, Secretary Humphrey considers it mandatory to again raise the debt limit."

The Treasury official was also subjected to bipartisan questioning about a possible increase in the price of gold. He said no change is contemplated in the long-standing price of $35 an ounce.

"A well-known manufacturer states it would be possible to get $70 an ounce," declared Senator A. Willis Robertson (D., Va.). "That is somewhat extreme," replied Burgess, "in view of the fact the price of free gold on the world market is only around $37 an ounce."

"Isn't a tremendous amount of our gold earmarked for foreign accounts?" asked Senator Everett Dirksen (R., Ill.). "And if that is so, isn't that an economic danger?"

"No, not as long as we have conditions of relative stability," declared Burgess. "There is nothing to worry about so long as the world has confidence in us. It is true some foreign countries have been accumulating reserves. But that's all to the good. That enables them to stand on their own feet and thus share in keeping the free world strong."

Note: The odds are against Congress' voting those increases in postal rates recommended by the House Postoffice Committee. Private checks by both Republican and Democratic leaders show a close majority against the raises in the House, and a considerable vote against them in the Senate. It will take the full weight of President Eisenhower's influence to overcome this powerful backstage opposition.

Monroe County Commissioners Complete Operating Budget

Tax Increase Of Two Mills Necessary

MONROE County commissioners have completed a proposed 1956 operating budget of $310,000—or some $30,000 more than last year's disbursements.

The proposed schedule will necessitate a two mill tax increase to 10 mills, the maximum levy which counties may collect for general operating purposes under state law.

The county board also announced that the proposed $101,000 institutional district budget will require raising the millage to four mills—an increase of a mill over last year, when disbursements totaled $92,000.

Inspection

The two proposed budgets will be open to public inspection in the commissioners' office up to and including June 25. The board is expected to formally adopt both formulas June 28.

Anticipated receipts from all sources for general purposes amount to $323,000 just a little more than $12,000 over the proposed general budget.

The county expects that tax receipts for the general budget will amount to an estimated $210,000 this year. This is about $40,000 more than the 1955 figure.

The county also hopes to collect about $104,000 from all sources for the institutional district account. This compares with $87,000 received last year. Anticipated receipts for this account on real estate is $84,000—about $20,000 more than the figure actually received in 1955.

In analyzing the proposed budgets, County Solicitor Leo A. Achtermann noted that both are "tight" and was unable to see where any changes could be made.

Achtermann pointed out that state law declares that "no tax for general county purposes, exclusive of the requirements for the payment of the interest and principal of the bonded debt of any county, shall in any one year exceed the rate of 10 mills on every dollar of the adjusted valuation."

The solicitor explained that the hike to the legal maximum was largely necessitated by the abatement of 1955 taxes to flood victims having more than 10 percent property damage, and by the reassessment of damaged properties.

The abatement of 1955 taxes alone will mean the loss of some $9,000 in the general fund, and about $2,000 in the institutional district account, he explained.

Meanwhile, the reassessment of damaged properties has resulted in about a $250,000 loss in assessed valuation.

Board Chairman John R. Lesoline disclosed that two claims for an estimated $28,000 will involve the disbursement of more than the amount raised by a mill, which currently produces about $24,000 in revenue.

Two Claims

The claims of the J. L. Jacobs Co. and John B. Aicher are for services rendered on the new reappraisal study started under the administration of the old Republican board.

Other items in the proposed general budget include $7,500 for Civil Defense and an additional $2,500 for an emergency lighting system in the courthouse.

Achtermann also revealed that as much as $5,000 more will be needed this year in the institutional account for the care of children, while the purchase of equipment and machinery and repairs at the county farm will represent another $4,000 hike.

Actually, the deadline has already passed for the adoption of county budgets. However, the Monroe County board was unable to complete the job earlier because of pending legislation and conditions brought on by last year's disaster.

Inspection Of Boats To Be Held At Rear Of Courthouse

AN INSPECTION OF BOATS and equipment of the Monroe County Civil Defense boat unit will be held at 7:30 tomorrow night in the rear of the court house on Sarah St.

Harold Hosier, C-D boat coordinator, said the purpose of the drill is to check the mobilization of the unit and to make a resource survey of the boats and equipment on hand.

Applications are now being processed to fully equip every boat unit assigned to various townships and other subdivisions in the county, Hosier said. This is the first boat rescue unit of its kind to be organized in the county.

Hosier noted that it has created a great deal of interest among officials of both the Federal and State C-D agencies. The unit became activated through Hosier's efforts during last August's flood.

The craft ferried thousands across the swollen streams in the county and remained on duty 24 hours a day during the height of the disaster.

"It was one of the most courageous undertakings in the entire history of Monroe County Civil Defense," said C-D Director Paul M. Crawn.

A meeting of boat unit members will follow tomorrow night's inspection.

Recitations were given by a group of students. Included were: "The Rose" by Joseph Penn; "The House With Nobody In It" by Judith Doll; "The Value of Wisdom" by Walter Smith; "Lincoln" by Daniel Henning.

Also "Gettysburg Address" by William Myrthel; "Somebody's Mother" by Jenette Bryson; "God's Gift To Country Folks" by Joyce Palmer; "Old Ironsides" by Lawrence Storm; "The Duel" by Gloria Smith; "Daisies" by Robert Fralley.

Richard Schneider gave the dictory address and received the American Legion award for citizenship. Runner-up for this award was William Myrthel. Judith Doll received the Legion Auxiliary award.

A piano solo, "Gathering Daisies," was played by Judith Lee.

Bangor Man Dies At 97
ROSETO — Frank S. Farace, one of the founders of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church here, is dead at 97.

Death occurred yesterday at his home at 504 N. Sixth St., Bangor, following a long illness.

Born in Roseto Valfortore, Italy, Sept. 28, 1858, he came to this country in 1883 and resided in East Bangor from 1886 to 1906. He retired as a slate quarry worker in 1931.

Surviving are four daughters, Josephine and Millie, at home; Judith and Mrs. Lucy Walters, Philadelphia; two sons, Louis and Fred, both of Bangor; 10 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the home, followed by solemn high requiem mass in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church.

Rate Drops
During the invasion of Norway and Finland, the people of those countries had a sub-normal amount of food to eat and the death rate from coronary heart disease dropped.

Dr. Kohn pointed out. Later, when food supply lines were restored, the death rate rose again, showing the close relationship between fatty foods and coronaries.

Animal and vegetable fats cause the same condition, the speaker said. He explained that fatty particles which find their way into the inner walls of the coronary arteries of the heart narrow the lumen of the arteries and help form the thrombus, or clot, which brings on the coronary heart attack. Thus did he describe one major cause of

Fisherman's Body Located
HARRISBURG, June 4 — A fisherman today found the body of a 26-year-old magazine salesman on Basehor's Island in the Susquehanna River near City, York County.

State police identified the body as that of William B. McAdams, Chicago, who rented a boat at Harrisburg Thursday, then disappeared. The boat was found near Highspire Friday.

Local Scout membership now stands at more than 800 boys and adult leaders. Yet when Camp Weygadt was organized in 1932, membership in the entire area of

Three Inmates Of Monroe County Jail Receive Parole

THREE INMATES OF THE Monroe County Jail yesterday were paroled for the balance of their terms by President Judge Fred W. Davis. They are Victor Evans, 36, of Rochester, N. Y., serving 6-23 months for passing worthless checks; Clair Metzgar, 29, serving a one year term for larceny, and Eugene Eickoff, 19, Portland, serving a sentence for larceny.

Fine

Judge Davis ordered Evans to pay a $100 fine, and costs. He was also instructed to make restitution. Weekly payments are not to be less than $15 weekly for the first three months, and not less than $20 a week thereafter.

Metzgar was ordered to work out a satisfactory schedule for payment of restitution with his parole officer. And the court instructed Eickoff to pay $25 on his fine and costs before July 1, and not less than $15 a week thereafter. He also was ordered to attend church regularly.

Former East Stroudsburg Resident Dies
WORD WAS received here yesterday of the death and burial of Charles Muransky, 55, long-time resident of East Stroudsburg and former owner of The Brown Derby there.

Mr. Muransky died in Vallejo, Calif. on May 15 after a long illness. He had lived in that city the past eight years. He was employed as a painter at Mare Island, at the time of his illness.

A veteran of World War Two, he served with the U.S. Army in the Infantry. He had lived for nearly 30 years in East Stroudsburg where he was very well known.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Frances R. Muransky; a daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Hughes, Vallejo and a brother, Abe Muransky, East Stroudsburg.

Final rites were held May 18 at Twin Chapels, 1100 Tennessee St., Vallejo. Rabbi Sol Horowitz, E'nai Israel Congregation, Vallejo and Rabbi William Z. Dalin, Major, USAR Chaplain, San Francisco, officiated at services.

Burial took place with full military honors in Golden Gate National cemetery, San Bruno, Calif.

the disease, although he said it was not the whole answer. Deep fried foods, gravies, rich sauces, salad dressings and fatty pork are among the worst offenders, with cream, butter, margarine and frying fats lesser contributing causes of coronaries, the physician said.

Everybody should have graded, regular exercise according to his or her ability and age. This tends to give better circulation to the blood and lessens the threat of the disease. He mentioned golf and walking as good means of exercise.

Dr. Kohn is a charter member and first president of the Mount Pocono Rotary Club. The meeting followed a dinner served in the Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. David ("Tex.") Ballou

Costume Designer And Bride Honeymooning In Florida

Honeymooning at the Lago Mar Hotel, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., are Pocono Playhouse scenic and costume designer David ("Tex") Ballou and the former Joyce Sullivan, who scored on Broadway this year as the ingenue in "Red Roses for Me."

Ballou designed his bride's attire for the afternoon nuptials at her father's home in Fort Lauderdale. The double ringed, of sea green organza over white, tops a sheath dress of white silk shantung. The trim of the white straw mushroom hat is lined with sea green organza.

The newlyweds will be at home in Mountainhome, Pa., on June 11.

Wedding Is Announced

Mr. David Guthrie announces the marriage of his daughter, Martha Wyckoff, to Charles Ernest Albert on Saturday, May 26, in Princeton, New Jersey.

The couple, now honeymooning in Idanoroda, Florida, will reside at 205 N. 6th St., Stroudsburg.

By VERA WINSTON

GOING nicely together, the slim dress and slim coat pair up for elegant spring ensemble duty, making for some interesting and attractive costumes. This twosome consists of a cardigan coat all over embroidery in beige or brown and a slim dress of black sheer wool. The coat, of course, is wonderful to wear over many things and is most attractive. The dress goes in for a scooped neckline and tiny sleeves and has nice pocket detail with seaming continuing up to the midriff. Lovely for late day wear when spring really gets under way.

Aux. Units To Sponsor Campaign

The five American Legion Auxiliary units in Monroe County are again joining in sponsoring a subscription campaign throughout the county. Proceeds will be used to purchase additional sick room equipment for the use of the general public. The campaign, sponsored annually by the Four-County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary, opened yesterday.

As a result of the previous campaigns sponsored by the auxiliary, the units have been able to purchase and maintain the following equipment: 5 hospital beds, 4 wheel chairs, 3 pair of crutches, 1 walk chair—The East Stroudsburg Unit, Pocono Pines Auxiliary has 2 beds, 1 wheel chair, 1 bed sides and one over-bed table. Mt. Pocono Unit has 3 hospital beds and 1 wheelchair. Canadensis: 2 beds, 2 wheelchairs and 1 bed sides. Gilbert, 3 hospital beds, 1 wheel chair and 1 bed sides.

This equipment is available for temporary use, without charge, to any resident. The Auxiliary have found that this equipment is in constant demand and has given valuable and timely service throughout the county. The equipment derived from the present campaign will help relieve the demand for these articles.

As in past years, only accredited representatives of the publishers, bearing letters of introduction and identification from the American Legion Auxiliary will call upon residents to explain the plan. These letters are signed by the Auxiliary President of Unit 346, Mrs. Gertrude Elitz, Four County Council President, Mrs. Lois Minnick and Council Secretary, Mrs. Caroline Kremposky. Residents are asked to request representatives to show their letters of introduction in order to eliminate any misrepresentation by unauthorized persons. Donations are not to be solicited or accepted.

The hospital equipment of the George N. Kemp Unit 346 of East Stroudsburg is kept at the home of the Community Service Chairman, Mrs. Katherine Reid. A resident needing equipment should contact Mrs. Reid, telephone 319-J.

Miss Marjorie E. Owens Weds Alfred A. Capobianco

The First Methodist Church of Bangor was the setting for the marriage of Miss Marjorie E. Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Owens, 450 S. Main St., Bangor, and Alfred A. Capobianco, son of Mrs. Pasquale Capobianco, 904 Pennsylvania Ave., Bangor, and the late Mr. Capobianco.

The church was decorated with white carnations.

Rev. Carl Hammerly officiated at the ceremony at 2 p.m. on Saturday, June 2.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of French chantilly lace with nylon tulle skirt. Her hat was dotted with seed pearls. She carried a corsage of an orchid with lilies of the valley.

Miss Carol Owens was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a teal gown of nylon tulle and carried white pompons.

Other bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ann Fisher and Mrs. Margaret De Nardo of Bangor and Miss Kathryn Romano of Washington, D.C. They were attired in aqua gowns of nylon tulle, and carried white pompons.

Traditional wedding music was furnished by Mrs. Evelyn Dietz, organist and Mr. E. Cornell Wallwork, soloist.

Joseph Basso of Bangor was the best man.

Ushers were Donald Williams of Bangor, cousin of the bride, Nicholas Yannuzzi and John Williams of Maryland.

The brides mother wore a blue dress with black accessories.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy blue dress with navy blue accessories.

A reception for about 400 guests was held at the Blue Valley Farm Show Building. The decorations included a large white bell and white streamers.

For travelling, the bride chose a navy blue sheath with short white jacket.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will be at home to their friends at 904 Pennsylvania Ave., Bangor.

The young couples are graduates of Bangor High School. The bride is employed at Merchants National Bank. The bridegroom is an employee of the John Hancock Life Insurance Co.

Republican Women Hold 2-Day Fiesta

Twenty nationality groups sponsored by the Luzerne County Republican Women will conduct a two-day Fiesta in conjunction with the Wilkes-Barre City Sesquicentennial, at the Irem Temple Country Club June 29 and 30. It was announced last night by Mrs. Louise H. Russell, Republican county vice-chairman.

The two-day celebration sponsored by the Republican Women, Mrs. Russell said, will feature the growth of Wilkes-Barre and Luzerne County through the contributions of all its major population, racial and nationality groups.

The Fiesta will take the form of a two day celebration. Opening on Friday noon, June 29, and continuing through the afternoon and evening, the area's twenty major nationality groups, dressed in costume, will present dramatic sketches highlighting their cultural contributions to the greatness of America and the growth of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Displays will include each group's authentic racial music, dances, foods, and other unique contributions.

The general idea of the Fiesta, Mrs. Russell said, is to create a gigantic "Republican Day" for Northeastern Pennsylvania and to stimulate interest and participation in the Fall campaign. The facilities of the picnic grounds will be available, free of charge, for family picnics.

Saturday's program will consist of a Fiesta Ball and a Grand March planned for community-wide participation, and will mark one of the memorable events of the Sesquicentennial year.

The following nationality groups will participate: Ukrainian, Syrian, Polish, Slovak, Hungarian, Lithuanian, Greek, Italian, Tyrolian, Russian, Country, Capboard, Colored, Welsh, Irish, English, Scotch, German, Jewish, American and Dutch.

Nancy Walters Chairman Of YWCA Tea

Jenkinson—Miss Nancy Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Walters, of 751 Milford Rd., East Stroudsburg, has been named chairman of the YWCA Tea committee for Senior Week at Beaver College.

The senior week festivities will begin Thursday, June 7 with a picnic at the farm of Thomas Barlow, college comptroller.

The senior luncheon and senior ball will be held at the college on Friday. The traditional class day program will be held on Saturday afternoon in Taylor Chapel. The Lantern Chain ceremony will be held on the lawn of the Grey Towers campus Saturday evening followed by the father-daughter dance and the president's reception in Grey Towers Castle.

Dr. Raymond Kistler, president of Beaver, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning, June 10 at 11 o'clock in Taylor Chapel.

District Pres. Visits

Pen Argyl—The Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen held a covered dish supper in the Civic Auditorium of the First National Bank building in Pen Argyl. Mrs. Anna Geddes, vice grand president of District 2, was introduced to the group. She spent a few days in Pen Argyl before returning to Chicago. Her district includes Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia.

Painting Tuesday

The American Legion Auxiliary's attempt to paint at the Legion home on Thursday night didn't get very far because of the storm and a power failure. They have set a new painting session, this time for Tuesday afternoon as soon after noon as possible with members requested to bring rollers.

"Have you a candy lipstick?" a very pretty, very young lady asked Florence Metzgar in our toy department this past Saturday. Florence hadn't... but she did have boxes containing shampoo sets, and her brown-eyed customer was studying them intently as I walked away. Florence also has shaving sets, for very young men... and that's not all!

Something interesting has definitely been happening in our toy department these last few weeks. We've been readying ourselves for the onslaught of summer trade... and we're beginning to get up on our tiptoes, in preparation for the accelerated demands of imaginative children.

It won't be long now until the aisles will be crowded with Sonnies, Janes, Dickies, Jimmies and Johnns, who have been exposed to the toy departments of city stores and expect to find much the same type of merchandise here. "Mother!" they will shout, in ringing tones, "I want THIS." And when the switchboard operator receives a report of a "little lost girl with blonde curls and blue eyes, answering to the name of Judy," she'll instinctively know those eyes are beaming in wide-eyed approval upon our doll display. A boy would more probably be busy with the games of skill that are driving all of the employees daff... wooden boxes (transparent plastic on one side) that hold triangles of wood, a square form and five tiny silver balls, or some other kaleidoscopic pieces of this-and-that, that must be coaxed, shaken, wheeled, and wiggled into specific patterns. At 39c these would certainly keep almost any youngster busy, and an olderster from being bored.

Other games that are easy to carry or store, and make an inexpensive amusement for the children while traveling, are the plastic-encased pocket games of Chinese Checkers, Tic Tac Toe, etc. Equally simple to tote, and hilariously funny, are the Berlin Aerobats imported from Germany. These toys are about six inches long and only two inches or so wide. They are practically without weight, being made of a wire frame clothed in colorful cotton to resemble monkey or Indian. Rubber bands are the simple answer to the confections these fantastic toys achieve when placed upon a flat surface after four or five twists of the arm. Thus far our biggest customers have been traveling salesmen and Wyckoff employees who are parents—all of them claiming they are purchasing them "for my youngster." Frankly, I think they're spoofing. These adults are as much amused as Junior will ever be... and at 69 and 75c.

Ballarina dolls at 49c are the glamour girls of our Wyckoff toy collection at present, and there's a new, lightweight cradle the size of a shoe box that sells at only 98c, complete with a pretty floral-plastic mattress, pillow and ruffle.

We have toys aimed at the sweet girl graduate too, for now if ever she is under the spell of the autograph collecting bug. Our answer is the Autograph Hound, a droopy-eared, sad-eyed broadcloth ponch that comes in either natural tan or yellow, with a ball point pen clipped to his ribbon collar. Everyone leaves his or her mark on the forlorn-looking fellow... and the result is a new type of friendship "album" to be cherished until the owner's first child claims it as a nursery item. A large hound is priced at 1.98; a smaller version is 1.00. And did I mention that he wears a mortar board hat? As a graduate's best friend, he wins all the honors. He's nothing at all if not the Valedictorian of his class!

Viewing the Screens

"DO YOU TRUST YOUR WIFE?" already is becoming one of television's biggest cash prize shows and stands a good chance of topping all others if the phenomenal success of the Steve Rowlands continues many more weeks. The Los Angeles insurance man and his wife have won a total of $42,800 by outlasting all competition in the CBS show's trust fund quiz. They will return tonight (10:30 to 11 over Channels 2 and 10) to try for a ninth year of $100 a week, which is payable through a trust fund, and the right to come back for the tenth week. Bud and Paula Healy, a reformed Bakersfield, Cal., card sharp and his evangelist wife, and Elmer and Dolores Anderson, roller derby skaters, will compete against the Rowlands tonight.

"Person to Person," in which Edward R. Murrow takes viewers into the homes of famous people each Friday night (10:30 to 11 on 2 & 10), heads the list of programs classified as "information-type" shows in a survey of 6,000 selected families conducted in 24 states by the American Council for Better Broadcasting.

The National Father's Day Committee has named accomplished Gisele MacKenzie, vocalist, dancer and instrumentalist on "Your Hit Parade" as "Father's Favorite Female;" Lawrence Welk, ABC orchestra leader, as "Music Father of the Year;" "Father Knows Best," family situation comedy series, as "TV Program of the Year" and its star, Robert Young, as "TV Father of the Year."

In commemoration of the 12th anniversary of D-Day, "Cavalcade Theater" will present "The Major of St. Lo" over ABC Channels 6 & 7 at 9:30 tonight. Peter Graves stars as Maj. Tom Howie in the story of the important part the new legendary battalion commander played in the capture of St. Lo, key to the Normandy invasion. Maj. Howie was killed on the eve of the American attack on the German-held bastion and today a statue inscribed "The Major of St. Lo" stands in the beautiful French town to honor his personal dedication and revered leadership.

"Playwrights 56," a full-hour drama series, presents "Nick and Lettie," the story of an Army nurse at 9:30 tonight over Channels 3 and 4. It is the story of Nancy Walker, a nurse during World War Two, whose first real love is threatened with destruction.

The Phil Silvers show, "You'll Never Get Rich," promises its usual quota of laughs tonight (8 p.m. on Channels 2 & 10). Pvt. Dornier wins the drawing for the part of king in the post motor pool's Mardi Gras fete and Sgt. Bulko decides the queen should be a local society girl in whom Dornier has a secret interest. Some real comedy situations develop.

Mrs. Rachel Limon, of Haifa, Israel, and Dr. Donald Roache, Washington, D.C. internist, try for $20,000 in the fourth leg of a $25,000 golden medley marathon on "Name That Tune" over Ch. 4 tonight at 7:30. This show is repeated on film later in the week.

Craftsmen To Meet In Greentown

GREENTOWN — The North-eastern Pennsylvania Guild of Weavers and Craftsmen will meet at the workshop of Adele Mulrooney here today for their annual picnic.

Officers for the year 1956-57 will be installed. They include Miss Ethel Watkins, Scranton, president; Mrs. G. A. Kahman, Great Meadows, N. J., and Mrs. Robert Irwin, Bushkill, vice presidents; Mrs. Herbert Halley, Lake Ariel, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joseph Mason, Dalton, recording secretary and Mrs. Norman Thurston, Scranton, treasurer.

State Fair

The group has decided to enter the work of its members in the State Craftsmen's Fair to be held in Stroudsburg on July 27, 28 and 29.

Area craftsmen are invited to join the Guild. Interested persons may do so by contacting any of the officers.

Flavor, Perfume Weigh Heavy

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—The U. S. Tariff Commission says the total production of flavoring and perfume materials amounted to 41 million pounds in 1955—an increase of 17 per cent over 1954.

Total sales in 1955 amounted to 35 million pounds, valued at 51 million dollars, compared with 31 million pounds valued at 47 million dollars which was sold in 1954.

There are two baseball games for sports fans tonight. The Yankees meet the Kansas City A's at 8:10 (Ch. 11) and the Phils take on Cincinnati's red-hot Redlegs at 8:55 (Ch. 12, Wilmington).

Current Movies

"The Scarlet Hour" opens at the Sherman Theater, Stroudsburg, tonight. Leading roles are played by Carol Ohmart, Tom Tryon, Jody Lawrence with Nat King Cole as guest star.

At the Grand Theater, East Stroudsburg, there will be matinee and night performances of "The Searchers," starring John Wayne, Jeffrey Hunter, Vera Miles.

"It's Always Fair Weather" starts at the Blue Ridge Drive-In, Saviorsburg. It features Gene Kelly, Dan Dailey, Cyd Charisse, Dorothy Gray.

Playing at the Pocono Drive-In, Bartonville, is "The Harder They Fall," starring Humphrey Bogart, Rod Steiger, Jan Sterling.

how to remain a

SMALL BUSINESSMAN

in two easy lessons

This Is A True Story!

It involves frankfurters, small businesses and large, and advertising. And it goes something like this . . .

Chapter I

A few weeks ago we bumped into a friend of ours. Runs a small Curtains and Linen Shop—one of those husbands and wife and one clerk affairs.

"How's business?" we asked.

"Not very good," was the reply.

"Well, how much are you spending on advertising?"

"Oh, I'd say about $25 a month."

He spends $25 a month to entice people into his store. Business is poor. But he sees no apparent connection.

We tried a new approach.

We told him about a vacuum cleaner corporation. Explained how they had INCREASED sales 40% while industry sales DROPPED 22%. Told him that they planned to spend almost $1,000,000 in advertising during the spring and summer—in magazines, newspapers, billboards, direct mail, radio and TV.

"Oh," said my friend, "they can afford to advertise. They're a big company."

Chapter II

That started the wheels clicking . . . jogged our memory about a little anecdote we'd heard years ago. Let's see if we can reconstruct it . . .

Seems there was a man who sold hot dogs at a roadside stand.

He was hard of hearing, so he had no radio.

He had trouble with his eyes, so he read no newspaper.

But he sold good hot dogs.

He put up signs on the highway telling people how good they were.

He ran small ads in local papers and used spot radio announcements.

He stood on the side of the road and cried "Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger store to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio?"

Haven't you been reading the newspapers?

The world situation is terrible.

The domestic situation is worse.

And the father thought "Well, my son's been to college.

He reads the papers and he listens to the radio, and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders.

Took down his highway signs, stopped using the newspapers and radio.

And no longer bothered to stand on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

He sat in his little stand and waited for business to come to him.

And his dog sales fell almost overnight.

"By gosh," said the father. "I've a smart son. Business IS lousy!"

Williams Not Washed Up; Says 'That'll Never Be'

BOSTON, June 4 (AP)—Sore-footed Ted Williams, obviously irritated and disgusted by his performance in the Boston Red Sox lineup, today ridiculed his statement, "I'm all washed up."

The 37-year-old slugger, hobbled by an instep injury, emphasized he is not considering retirement from baseball which pays him in the neighborhood of $100,000 a season.

After two displays of temper on the field, Williams told Boston Traveler Writer Tom Monahan following yesterday's 7-6 loss to the Kansas City Athletics: "I'm all washed up. I'm through. I can't hit. They are throwing the ball right by me. I can't hit anymore."

Just Clowning

Today Williams claimed he was just clowning and made the remarks sarcastically. Reached before going into hiding by George Sullivan of the Quincy Patriot Ledger, Williams said:

"Me washed up? It will never be. But I'll not deny it because the idea is ridiculous."

Ted told Sullivan he made the statement "the same way I'll say I'm jumping over the moon."

Ted said he has no thought of retiring and then boomed confidently about his hitting ability.

Never'll Be Stopped

"The only way I would (retire) is if I couldn't hit," he said. "But that will never be because they'll never get me out. The only thing that will stop me will be my legs. But they'll never stop my hitting."

Williams' first remarks that "I'm all washed up" were taken lightly by most observers close to the Red Sox. He is annoyed by reports he may be forced to retire because of the instep injury, suffered when he slipped on a wooden shower clog.

After being sidelined, except for pinch-hitting duty, since the second game of the season, Ted returned to his regular left field post last week. Slowed down tremendously by his foot ailment, he also has contributed little power at bat.

Kuenn Helping Detroit Surge

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—It might be just a coincidence, but a good deal of credit for Detroit's recent surge in the American League standings can be attributed to shortstop Harvey Kuenn.

The Tigers have won six straight games to move into a tie for fourth place while reaching the .500 mark for the first time this season. Kuenn has hit safely in all 6 games and 14 of the last 15 to lift his batting average to .356—fourth highest in the league.

Meanwhile, Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees continues to set the pace with a .411 figure and St. Louis' Rip Repulski leads the National League batsmen with .400. Figures include games through Sunday.

Maxwell 2nd

Detroit's Charley Maxwell remains second in the batting race with .376, followed by Mickey Vernon of Boston in third at .360.

Repulski, back in action after being sidelined with a wrist injury, regained the NL top slot, displacing Pittsburgh's Dale Long, who dropped to second with .380. Long, however, is the home run pacesetter with 15 and is tied with the Cards' Ken Boyer for the RBI lead with 41 each. Boyer moved from fifth to third at .357.

Brewer Tops

Tom Brewer of the Red Sox has the best pinning percentage in the American League, 7-1, .875, and Cleveland's Herb Score is the strikeout leader with 86. In the National League, Lawrence of the Redlegs boasts the leading percentage with six victories without a defeat for 1,000 and the Pirates' Bob Friend has fanned the most batsmen, 60.

Promising Miler

UNIVERSITY PARK—A promising freshman miler, Ed Moran, of James City, Pa., set a new Penn State frosh standard of 4:18 this Spring.

Leighton Races Reset For Sunday

LEIGHTON. — NARA big car races rained out on Memorial Day at the Leighton Fairground have been rescheduled for Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., co-promoters Ray Madara and Herb Schaeffer have announced.

Some two dozen sprint cars, manned by many of the up-and-coming young race drivers of the east, will compete in a seven-event program. Time trials will begin at 1:30 o'clock and will be followed by three heats, a consolation, a special match race and a 25-lap feature event.

1st Race Meet

The first race meet of the year for NARA (National Auto Racing Association) will settle the club's spring championship. Several track records are expected to be lowered when the entourage hits the fast, half-mile oval.

NARA cars are powered by stock engines to insure good competition and interesting racing. Offenhausen and other high-powered foreign made engines are prohibited.

Drivers hail from every state along the middle Atlantic seaboard, but the bulk of them are Pennsylvanians.

George Ratterman and Vito Parilli are listed as quarterbacks for the Cleveland Browns now that Otto Graham has left the sport.

Sees Moore At 174½ For Pompey Tiff

LONDON, June 4 (AP)— Archie Moore's manager predicted today the light-heavyweight champion would make the 175-pound limit with ounces to spare tomorrow when he defends his title against Yolande Pompey of Trinidad in a 15-round match at Harringay Arena.

"Archie will send the scales to 174½ at the weigh-in," said Charley Johnston, Moore's manager. "His weight-losing program is exactly on schedule. After a good meal and tomorrow night he will dispose of Pompey."

Moore's ability to make the weight for the first time since last June 22 without weakening himself has been one of the most important pre-fight factors. Another question about Moore is how much his ninth-round knockout by Rocky Marciano last September took out of him.

The odds favoring Moore went to 4-1 with practically every boxing writer in Britain picking the once-talkative but now sullen American. Most predicted a knockout in an early round.

More than 2,000 gallons of paint were used to prepare Monmouth Park for the 1956 racing season.

Houses For Sale

A Gracious Home
Three and a Half Years Old

BERWICK HEIGHTS ROAD
With a large picture window that overlooks a most striking and relaxing hilltop view, this lovely home is located in one of the most desirable locations in East Stroudsburg. Only a few blocks from East Stroudsburg schools, conveniently near for business purposes, and yet exclusive enough for suburban living. The home and garage are nestled in a covering of large shade trees, well kept lawn and shrubbery, on a 120 x 120 lot. The living room and dining space are completely covered with new wall to wall carpeting in perfect keeping with the house. Draperies are throughout the home. Three bedrooms supply all the sleeping space you need. Kitchen is equipped with a Westinghouse Electric Range, American Steel Sink and Automatic Dishwasher, and Steel Floor and Wall Cabinets. Entry room and tiled bath room complete the house.

For comfortable outdoor living at this select site, there's a patio in the rear, with a walk leading to the garage, and patio space in the front of the house. And for the children, there's a double swing in the back yard.

If this sounds like the kind of home for which you've been dreaming, find out all the facts, make an appointment to see this home. Owner is moving out of town to assume a new position.

THE ABOVE are just a few of the scenes which you will see today when the VFW brings the King Bros. Circus to town for shows at 2 and 8 p.m. at Day St. The all new King Bros. Circus is this year celebrating the 37th season since Floyd King and his brother Howard took to the road with their first circus after spending 20 years in the newspaper business.

Circus To Present Pair Of Shows On Day Street Lot

BRIGHT AND EARLY today the great King Bros. Circus began to roll on to the Day Street Flats for two shows today under the sponsorship of Veterans of Foreign Wars. The King Bros. Circus this year is celebrating its 37th annual season, and will present thrills, chills and laughter galore during the two-hour shows at 2 and 8 p.m.

Long recognized as one of the epics of circuses the King Bros. Circus has more than done itself proud this year and surpassed its reputation by assembling a cast of such outstanding artists as Lolita on the tight wire, unicycle, and as a juggler; Helene the lovely queen of the trapeze; Miller's educated horses; Eddie Hodgins' Clown Car; Capt. John Smith's liberty horses and ponies; Clowns galore, and many other top notch attractions.

Perhaps one of the greatest troupes of bareback riders to ever come to America from Europe is the Zoppe troupe featuring "Rugie," Alberto, Cuculo (the midge comic) and four other people complete the troupe. Sometimes for the fun of it Alberto's five-year-old son and two and one-half-year-old daughter prove that they too are gifted young riders, and "Cousin Mable," with her many antics, leaves you bursting with laughter. If you think you've got trouble with your mother-in-law wait until you see "Cousin Mable."

Clowns
Floyd King hasn't forgotten the clowns that everyone loves for their antics or foolery for he has assembled some of the greatest clowns ever to appear with a circus. There are comical walk arounds, clown car, clown fire department, clown photographers, and many other laugh provoking gadgets arranged by these doctors of "Laughology."

Speaking of beautiful horses King Bros. has with it some of the most outstanding specimens of beauty horsedom and circudom ever produced. Col. "Curley" Miller's "Lucky Boy" is one of the loveliest you've ever seen, and when Capt. John Smith cracks his whip you will see some beautiful liberty horses and ponies in precision acts seen with any show.

Boroughs Earn Honor Roll Positions

FOR GOING through the entire year of 1955 without a single traffic fatality, Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Bangor have won places on the honor roll of the National Safety Council's traffic award program.

In all, 862 American cities with more than 5,000 population earned recognition — an increase of 32 from the number on the 1954 honor roll.

The largest no-death city in 1955 was Muskegon, Mich., with a population of 48,429.

Hobart, Okla., a city of 5,380 population which state records show has never had a traffic death since its incorporation in 1901, maintained its perfect record through 1955 for the longest sustained performance among cities of more than 5,000 population.

Among cities of more than 10,000, top honors for sustained no-death records went to State College, Pa. (17,227) for eight consecutive death-free years.

Economic Development Committee Releases Report On Possible Federal Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON, June 4 — Action on cutting Federal taxes should be based on a thorough reassessment of the prospects for a "substantial surplus" in the 1957 cash budget, as well as the economic outlook, the Research and Policy Committee of the Committee for Economic Development said in a study issued today.

A decision to cut taxes should rest on "assurance, based on a conservative estimate of the prospective surplus, that a tax cut of reasonable minimum size—say in excess of $2 billion—will not result in a deficit in the cash budget in the fiscal year 1956-57."

If a "comprehensive, authoritative review of the 1957 budget prospect" shows that there will be "a substantial surplus" the committee recommended tax reduction to take effect January 1, 1957.

The committee said that if the review reveals "that only a small surplus in the cash budget can be expected in fiscal 1956-57" no tax cut should be made unless there is a marked reversal of economic conditions which requires strong action to combat recession."

Such a review, the committee said, would necessitate deferring final decision on any large-scale cut until late in this session of Congress.

The committee noted that recent official estimates indicate a surplus of $4 to $4.5 billion in the cash budget ($1.8 to $2.3 billion in the administrative budget) for fiscal 1956, the year ending June 30. It pointed out, however, that uncertainties as to next year's revenues and expenditures — particularly the latter—still remain to be clarified before the size of the fiscal 1957 cash surplus can be determined.

"When tax reduction becomes possible, whether in 1956, 1957 or a later date," the CED report recommended, "the opportunity should be used to make a balanced move towards a better tax structure. In such a move priority should be given to a reduction of individual income tax rates, especially those that are extremely high, but some reduction in the corporate profits tax, and also, if possible, in selective excises, should be included."

Surpluses not large enough for "significant tax reform" should be used to reduce the Federal debt, the committee said. While emphasizing the importance of debt reduction, the committee took the view that tax rates are currently so high that tax reduction on a significant scale must for the time being take priority over large scale debt reduction.
